

etcetera
edutainment

Virtual Training Developer Moves Downtown

Etcetera Edutainment Locates Headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Building on Seventh Avenue

July 14, 2006 - Pittsburgh

Etcetera Edutainment, Inc., a company founded by faculty and graduates of Carnegie Mellon University has moved its headquarters to downtown Pittsburgh. The company is now located on Seventh Avenue in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Etcetera Edutainment, nearly two years old, develops computer-based virtual training and educational simulations.

The company was attracted to the downtown area because of its central location and because of all of the development efforts that have been occurring.

“The recent surge of development and leadership in the city is fostering the right kind of energy for high tech startups,” said Jessica Trybus, CEO of Etcetera Edutainment. “Our team is excited to be a part of the revitalization and new life coming into the city.”

Etcetera employees are taking advantage of other assets in the city, such as the proximity of other businesses, restaurants and entertainment venues.

Ms. Trybus said the company has secured plenty of room to grow.

For more information, visit www.etceteraedutainment.com.